Wind Whips Snow Throughout Poconos

WIND-WHIPPED snow accompanied by sub-freezing temperatures lashed the Poconos yesterday making life miserable for pedestrians and motorists. Estimates of the total fall ranged as high as ten inches at midnight. The swirling wind whipped it into drifts up to a foot deep in some parts of the Stroudsburgs and deeper in some outlying sections. Temperatures dropped to 11 degrees

Kingsize Snowstorm Hits State; 12 Inches Drops

Pennsylvania was hit Thursday by a kingsize snowstorm that caused its residents to look skyward before taking to the highways. The U.S. Weather Bureau said as much as 12 inches would cover the state by daylight Friday. Only Erie and Crawford counties reported flurries, and but a trace on the ground. Winds caused drifting in many places, closing roads that previously had been passable. Twenty to 30 trucks were reported tied up in a traffic jam on Nold Mountain, east of Indiana on Route 422. The storm, caused by an intense low pressure area in Virginia, began in the western part of the state and spread eastward, increasing the snow depth as it

Dr. Dooley, Famed Jungle Doctor, Dies

NEW YORK (AP)—Dr. Thomas Dooley, 34, the famed "jungle doctor" of Laos and author of the best-selling "The Night They Burned the Mountain," is dead of cancer. His health had failed rapidly in the past few days and he died in his sleep Wednesday night in Memorial Hospital, just a day after his birthday. He had continued his fight against disease in primitive areas until his own illness forced him to a painful last month. He entered the hospital Dec. 27. President Eisenhower, in one of the hundreds of birthday messages sent to him, said: "It must have been a source of heartened gratification to realize that in so few years you have accomplished so much for the good of distant peoples and have inspired so many others to work for all humanity." A solemn pontifical funeral Mass will be conducted in the St. Louis, Mo., Cathedral Monday at 9:30 a.m. by Bishop Leo C. Byrne. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery. Dooley was a cofounder with Dr. Peter Comanduras of Washington, D.C., of MEDICO (Medical International Cooperation Organization), a nonprofit, nonsectarian health service. Dooley's dedication to administering to the ailing in remote areas began in 1954, when, as a Navy doctor, he witnessed the plight of refugees evacuated from Communist North Viet Nam.

Farewell To Ike

LONDON (AP)—Many nations of the world bade President Eisenhower an affectionate farewell Thursday and sent warm greetings to his successor, John F. Kennedy.

Jet Carrying 106 Crashes In Queens

NEW YORK (AP)—A Mexican DC8B jet airliner crashed through an Idelwild Airport fence in a snowstorm Thursday night, but an estimated 100 of the 106 passengers aboard escaped before flames consumed the plane.

Forty of those aboard the craft, which was taking off for Mexico City, returned to the airport within an hour after the accident.

At least two others, nearby residents, went directly home. Whether others had similar departures was not known immediately.

The flames were such that firemen could not at once search the wreckage.

Fire Commissioner Edward J. Cavanagh Jr. said parts of the fence and fragments of two light poles were tangled in the wreckage. The plane also hit an automobile.

Cavanagh expressed belief the plane never got off the ground, but some passengers said it had taken off.

Police earlier had reported there appeared to be no survivors, but those who escaped apparently had left the scene before the police arrived.

One passenger, Arthur Rosenberg, 46, of Woodmere, Nassau, said he and a number of other passengers ran from the plane and that "then it blew up."

Rosenberg, who hitchhiked to his home nearby, said at least 20 persons walked away from the plane with him.

The four-engined plane had just taken off from Idelwild Airport for Mexico City.

"We took off, going along the runway at about 50 feet off the ground," Rosenberg told The Associated Press.

"All of a sudden I heard what seemed like a bump. It didn't sound normal to me. I told my wife, 'Put your head between your legs. I think we're going to crack up.'"

The plane continued rolling. Then flames began to surround us on both sides.

"The plane cracked up on Rockaway Boulevard. We ran out and were about 50 yards from the plane. Then it blew up."

Within an hour after the crash, some passengers began arriving back at Idelwild.

"All of them got off without injury," said one. Another said "most of them" escaped.

Dr. Harold Hogg, 60, of Lancaster, Pa., and his brother, Dr. James S. Hogg of Oxford, Pa., were enroute to Mexico City with their wives to attend a surgical conference. All survived.

"We tried to take care of some of the passengers, but most of them got out," Harold Hogg said.

"Someone picked us up and brought us to the airport," James Hogg's wife, Mary, said on getting back to the airport. "I'm just so thankful."

The Mexican airline, Aeromexico, began jet operations between Idelwild and Mexico City last fall after getting a DC8B from Eastern Airlines. The service operates out of the Eastern Airlines terminal.

Daniel Herbst, 36, witnessed the crash from behind the wheel of his automobile as he was driving along Rockaway Boulevard toward his home in Hewlett, N. Y.

"My windshield was frosted so I had my window open," said Herbst. "I heard a noise and stuck my head out. I saw this airplane right at the edge of the Idelwild fence from my right, going right across in front of me."

He said the plane was flaming prior to hitting a marsh.

He said he saw 11 people running out. Then there was a tremendous burst of flame, like the whole thing exploded.

"But it looked like everybody got out," Herbst said. "There were an awful lot of them. They were running across the marsh through the snow. Some had no shoes and some were in shirt-sleeves."

Blizzard Ties Up Inaugural

Ike Gives JFK Rundown On World

WASHINGTON (AP)—Smiling and confident, John F. Kennedy Thursday received an up-to-date rundown on world problems from President Eisenhower, who will pass those problems to Kennedy Friday.

Later, the president-elect was briefed by Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, the nation's top military man, on matters Kennedy will start handling as commander in chief. Lemnitzer said the conference involved nothing of an emergency nature.

In calling on Eisenhower, Kennedy entered the White House as a visitor for the last time for at least four years. By Friday night, the 43-year-old Massachusetts Democrat will occupy the president's oval-shaped office.

Looking sun-bronzed, fit and at ease, Kennedy was asked by reporters how he was bearing up under the preinauguration pressures and excitement.

Grimacing, Kennedy replied: "Very well, thank you. I'm feeling fine."

Somebody wanted to know if he was excited. "Interested," Kennedy replied laconically and with another grin.

Over-all, the discussions lasted more than two hours, and then the Eisenhower and Kennedy news secretaries issued a joint statement saying in part:

"The President and the president-elect met today for the second time since the election for a full discussion of the current world situation. During these discussions, the president-elect and the incoming Cabinet members who attended these meetings were brought up to date on a number of matters affecting the security of the United States.

"World areas under discussion included the Far East, Africa, Western Europe and the Caribbean."

Castro Nixes JFK

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's government greeted the incoming Kennedy administration with a new flurry of anti-American decrees and a triumphant announcement that six "Yankee invaders" were captured sailing into Havana harbor.

Democrats, at a party caucus Wednesday, approved the plan advanced by Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas as a move to take control of the Rules Committee away from a coalition of Republicans and Southern Democrats.

The change would boost the committee's membership from eight Democrats and four Republicans to ten Democrats and five Republicans. Its effect, if all members voted according to

GOP To Oppose Committee Packing

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republicans called Thursday for defeat of a Democratic-backed plan to enlarge the House Rules Committee with liberals friendly to President-elect John F. Kennedy's legislative program.

The GOP Policy Committee made a party issue of the plan by unanimously urging all House Republicans to oppose it when it comes to a House vote, probably next week.

The GOP committee, composed of party leaders representing all sections of the country, said the plan was unnecessary and unjustified.

JFK Preinauguration Festivities Are Wrecked

WASHINGTON (AP)—A blizzard tied the nation's capital up in fantastic knots Thursday night, wrecking preinauguration festivities for President-elect John F. Kennedy.

The wind-lashed snow threatened to deal crippling blows to Friday's carefully laid ceremonies for the swearing-in of the new president. For one thing, nobody knew how the big, glittering parade could get under way.

Kennedy and his wife did manage to make their way through a gigantic traffic jam to a planned concert at Constitution Hall. But at 8:30 p.m., the massive hall, with a seating capacity of 5,811 people, contained only between 300 and 400.

Of the 95 musicians expected for the concert, only 20 had been able to reach the hall at that time.

The Kennedys were in a reception room at Constitution Hall, awaiting the decision of the management on whether the concert should be canceled.

Vice President Stalled

Vice President-elect and Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson were reported stalled in the traffic several blocks from the hall.

Former President Herbert Hoover, flying in from Miami for an honored spot in the inauguration ceremonies, could not land at snow-blocked National Airport. He turned back south, and gave up all idea of attending.

Other VIPs, speeding here for the inauguration, were stranded in Baltimore and many other cities because their planes could not land. Those who got here found their big limousines impotent in the snarled traffic. Scores of governors, congressmen, diplomats and others were among those who waited in vain for transportation.

"Traffic is at a standstill on almost every street," police headquarters reported.

As the president-elect and soon-to-be first lady entered largely empty Constitution Hall, they got a prolonged standing ovation.

Shortly before 9 p.m., the management of the National Symphony Orchestra, in the spirit of the "show must go on," announced that the concert would go ahead.

The vice president-elect had just come into the hall after his battle with the snow.

Singer Frank Sinatra, co-producer of the star-spangled gala, the second big event on Thursday night's program, also insisted that his two-hour extravaganza must proceed. But there again the expected audience of 12,000 for the $100-a-ticket affair was sadly curtailed.

Although the Kennedys made the drive from their home in 15 minutes, they had to travel between two and 10 miles an hour. Motorcycle policemen accompanying them through the snow-packed streets often fell to the ground, unable to manage their cycles in the snow.

At the District of Columbia Armory, scene of the gala, barely a quarter of the 12,000 seats were filled at 9:15, which was 15 minutes after the scheduled opening.

Hotel lobbies were jammed with thousands of people waiting for special buses that could not get through to take them to the armory.

At 9 p.m. Sinatra and Pierre Salinger, Kennedy's press secretary, hopefully announced that the gala would start at 10, an hour late.

Among those caught in the traffic was outgoing Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Herter left his office in his official limousine with the intention of attending pre-inaugural fetes. Two and a half hours later he and his car were still snagged only 10 blocks from the State Department.

But Herter was not without spirit. An equally stalled motorist in the car behind him slipped over to a liquor store and brought enough refreshment to see them both through the struggle.

Meanwhile the Kennedy and Johnson parties had left the concert at intermission. Their cavalcade headed toward the gala, all the way across the snowswept city.

Arriving at the gala only a bit late was Kennedy's brother, Robert, and his wife Ethel in evening clothes and apparently unruffled by the storm. The orchestra was in place and tuning up optimistically.

The Kennedys arrived at the gala at 9:45 p.m.—only about a half hour late.

A crowd waiting at the armory door hoping to see them let out disappointed sighs of "Oh!" as the two were led quickly to a side door that led to a handsomely decorated box in the balcony.

Bowles Vows Opposition To Peiping Recognition

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chester Bowles Thursday proclaimed his opposition to recognition of Red China and won swift approval from a Senate committee for his nomination as undersecretary of state.

Bowles moved through the hearing of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee with more ease than had been expected.

Tough questioning had been predicted by some Republicans. But, by the time their turns came, his severest critics found he had answered the questions they had planned to ask.

Red China was the focal subject. In the past, some critics have said Bowles' views implied eventual recognition of Red China.

But Bowles told the committee he not only opposed recognition but saw no possibility that the United States would meet the terms demanded by the Communists for recognition.

The Chinese Communist leader, Mao Tse-tung, and Premier Chou En-lai have said they will not discuss relations with the United States until this country lets Formosa become a part of mainland China, Bowles told the committee.

"Obviously we won't do that. We will not stand for that," Bowles said.

"I simply feel we are obviously not going to give up Formosa. We are going to defend Formosa at whatever the cost and whatever the risks."

Any potential Republican opposition to Bowles nomination appeared to wilt after those statements.

Nixon Hints Plans To Run Again In '64

WASHINGTON (AP)—Richard M. Nixon pointed Thursday to a middle road course for the Republican party, from which he intimated he might seek the GOP presidential nomination again in 1964.

Nixon, who leaves office as vice president Friday, announced at a goodbye gathering of reporters that he is negotiating to join a Los Angeles law firm. He did not name the firm.

He and his wife, Pat, take off Saturday for Nassau for a month's vacation. They will go to California shortly after their return to seek a new home. The Nixons will retain their Washington house until June, when their two daughters complete the school year.

Questioned as to whether he plans to seek a second presidential nomination four years from now, Nixon replied:

"I have no plans at the present time to run for any office in 1960 or 1964. I have no organization for 1964, but that doesn't mean I am ruling out any possibility of being a candidate."

Nixon made it clear he intends to be active in the role as titular head of his party.

Jet Bomber Blows Up

MONTICELLO, Utah (AP)—An Air Force B52 jet bomber blew up in the air 12 miles north of this southeast Utah town Thursday night, the Federal Aviation Agency in Salt Lake City reported.

A spokesman for the FAA said there were some survivors.

The plane was believed to be from the El Paso, Tex., area where Biggs Air Force Base is located.

The B52 normally has a crew of six.

$1,327,431 Fleece Job

NEW YORK (AP)—Morton Carlin, 39-year-old former liquor store clerk, has been accused of fleecing seven victims of $1,327,431.

Carlin was arrested Wednesday on a 58-count grand jury indictment stemming from a series of what the district attorney calls "long running manipulations."

Dist. Atty. Frank S. Hogan said the operation was one of the most complex and intricate financial investigations in the experience of his office.

Hogan said even a long established securities corporation and veteran financiers well known in Wall Street were taken in.

The district attorney said Carlin, married and the father of four children, spread the word around town he had $3 million he wished to put to work.

Hogan said that during a six month period ending last April, Carlin advanced loans to victims—generally at 7 per cent interest—for stock they posted as collateral, stock Carlin immediately used to obtain loans for himself.

Distressed Area Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $94 million federal aid program for chronically distressed areas has been proposed by Rep. William Scranton, freshman Republican congressman from Scranton, Pa.

Marvin Butler Ex-Resident

MARVIN L. Butler, 41, of Lakeland, Fla., and formerly of Sterling, was killed yesterday when his tractor-trailer ran off the road and crashed about six miles south of Mount Vernon, Ill.

State Police said that Butler apparently fell asleep at the wheel of the tractor-trailer and estimated it at a total loss.

He was driving the truck for J and M Enterprises, Inc., of Lakeland, Fla.

Mr. Butler was a graduate of Greene-Dreher High School and had operated a bakery in Newfoundland before moving to Lakeland 12 years ago.

He was born in Sterling, the son of Mrs. Carrie Osgood Butler Friebele, Lakeland, Fla., and the late Russell Butler.

In addition to his mother he is survived by his widow, Mrs. Alice Nanson Butler, at home; two brothers, Mayron Butler, Baldwinsville, N.Y. and Claude Butler, Newfoundland.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by the Frey Funeral Home, South Sterling.

Interment will be in the Hamblin Cemetery, near Sterling.

Scores Of County Offices To Be Contested In Year

HARRISBURG (AP)—Scores of offices on the county, city, borough and township levels will be contested in this year's municipal elections.

These elections are held only in odd-numbered years with the more glamorous state and national races being waged in even-numbered years.

The primary election this year will be held May 16 because of the large number of offices involved the ballots will be jammed with candidates seeking nominations for the general election.

Nov. 7 is the day set aside for the general elections, when all the offices will be filled. The ballots will be much less crowded.

In addition the ballots may contain referenda — questions on which the voters must decide — on a host of local and, possibly, state issues.

Local Option

Primary election ballots may contain local option referenda on the question of liquor prohibition, Sunday movies, bond issues and school district mergers.

New York Butter

NEW YORK (AP) — Butter offerings excessive. Demand slow. Prices unchanged.

There are a number of proposed amendments to the state constitution that may go on the general election ballot only.

Seven were approved by the 1959 legislature and have been introduced again in the current session.

Such amendments must be passed by successive, separately elected legislatures before they can be placed on the ballot. If they are defeated by the voters they cannot be resubmitted for five years.

Heading the list of proposed amendment changes going through the legislature now are three which would permit the governor, the state treasurer, auditor general and county treasurers to serve two terms, instead of the present one.

4-Year Science Fair Scholarship

SEN. WILLIAM Z. SCOTT (R-Lansford) last night advised the Monroe County Science Fair Committee that he had set aside a four-year college scholarship for presentation to an outstanding student competing in the third annual Science Fair in East Stroudsburg Armory March 23 and 24.

The scholarship, one of two or three the committee hopes to obtain, will be honored at one of four Pennsylvania universities and will be worth a maximum of $1,800 and a minimum of $400, depending upon the tuition charged by the college selected by the winner.

Sen. Scott said the scholarship will be worth $450 a year at the University of Pennsylvania, $375 at Temple University, $325 at the University of Pittsburgh and $100 at Penn State University. Those figures, he explained, represent about one-half the tuition charged by the respective colleges.

Maximum Of Three
Dr. Grady Moore, chairman of the scholarship committee of the Science Fair, recalled that the group had decided to award a maximum of three scholarships this year on the basis of points student winners accumulate during the 1959, 1960 and 1961 fairs.

Points will be credited to first, second and third place winners and totaled to determine the scholarship winners. Despite the snow and a report that the meeting had been cancelled, a large number of committee members attended last night's session, held at The Daily Record office.

Besides the newspaper, the fair is sponsored jointly by the science teachers of the county schools and the Industrial Management Club.

Bank Names Employees

EMPLOYEES of the East Stroudsburg National Bank, all reelected by directors at their meeting this week, are:

Kenneth Alspach, John Butz, Bernice Nauman, Verma Thomas, Jeanne Lowry, Dorothy Goedecke, Ruth Cyphers, Earl Brown, Katherine Sands, Mary Corby, Lenore Strauser, Bernadette McDaniels, Mary Flitzky, Mary Cortright, Elizabeth Hessler, William Wallie, Mildred Hessing, Mae Fahringier, Doris Marshall, Janet Pope and Elsie Graw.

Claude Cramer, cashier, announced the board's action yesterday.

County Sets Up Parley

MONROE County Commissioners voted to set up a meeting in the near future with the solicitors of all political sub-divisions of the county and the solicitors of the school boards to discuss the sharing of the cost of the Occupation Tax in the county.

The county is now paying 100 per cent of the costs of assessing and processing the tax and do not receive enough money in Occupation Taxes to pay the county's cost thereof.

The time and date for the meeting will be announced at a later date.

Chairman of the Board John Lesoine made the motion for the meeting following a short discussion on the cost of the collection of the Occupation Tax.

Doll Named
In other business, the appointment of Edward Doll, Canadensis, to the office of Veterans Affairs Officer for Monroe County was announced. Letters have been sent to all the applicants notifying them of the selection.

Doll will be in the office on Sarah Street, beginning Monday at a starting salary of $3,380 a year.

The board also voted to appoint Norman Neyhart, 414 N. Eighth St., Stroudsburg, as assessor for the Third Ward in Stroudsburg. Neyhart will fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Bessie Clark, who died November, 1960.

Aid was also given to three families requesting help for light, coal, oil and food.

Attend Fairs Convention

NEWFOUNDLAND — Carroll Fetherman, Robert Staph and Ted Ash attended the convention of the Pennsylvania State Association of Country Fairs held at Reading, January 18 and 19.

Fetherman is president of the Greene-Dreher-Sterling Community Fair Association; Staph is secretary of the unit; and Ash is chairman of the Fair horse show.

Motor Club Denies Gas Tax Action

DIRECTORS of the AAA Motor Club of Northeastern Pennsylvania, meeting yesterday at Scranton, denied they had either approved or rejected Gov. David Lawrence's proposal for a two-cent increase in the state's five-cent gasoline tax.

The club felt it necessary to issue the denial after radio reports to the effect that the tax boost had received the support of the motor club and the Pennsylvania Motor Federation.

Gov. Lawrence's proposal was submitted to the Legislature early this week. There has been insufficient opportunity in the meantime to determine from the Governor's budget figures whether the request is justified, the directors felt, and they voted to put off any action until they are more fully advised.

The group also approved the PMF's 1961 program for better motoring legislation, but asked that the section pertaining to radar and other speed detection devices be strengthened to protect the motorist.

Backed Legislation
PMF has backed legislation legalizing radar in accordance with four safeguards and stipulations: that such devices should not be utilized for speed enforcement purposes until the Highways Department has rezoned its highways with realistic speed designations thereon; operation of such devices shall be limited to use by the State Police; any law legalizing radar must include adequate safeguards to prevent apprehension for temporarily increased speeds when passing another vehicle, and accompanying such operation there shall be proper signs indicating that radar is being used for enforcement purposes.

One additional safeguard was suggested by the directors. It calls for the equipping of all police radar with recording devices before they can be used in enforcement of speed laws. This, the directors felt, will assure a more accurate method of clocking and provide a permanent record of speeds checked.

William E. Bright presided at the meeting. Allan C. Hunsinger, general manager, reported on plans to hire a field man to serve the Pocono Mountains region.

Representing the Pocono Division were Clifford L. Cramer and John F. Hill, vice presidents.

Skit Slated At Hamilton PTA Meet

A SKIT entitled "Our Home Night" will be presented Monday night following the meeting of Hamilton Township PTA in the Hamilton Elementary School at 8 p.m.

Members of the cast are Chester Hauser, Victoria Snyder, Valerie Robbins, Jeffery Robbins, Scott Young and Milti Shanley.

The skit is being directed by Mrs. Thomas Shanley.

Following the program refreshments will be served by the Home-Mother Mothers of the Fifth Grade.

Ex-Bangor Teacher Is Principal

BANGOR — LeVan P. Smith, former head coach of athletics at Pen Argyl High School, now is serving as supervising principal of the Unionville-Chaddis-Ford School District, Unionville, having made this change after a number of years as principal of Reading High School, Reading.

Smith began his teaching and coaching career at Pen Argyl after graduating from Muhlenberg College where he was an outstanding athlete, captaining each of the three varsity-sports teams.

Later he coached and taught at Glen Cove, L.I. He held the office of dean at Albright College for several years before returning to secondary education at Reading High.

Bank Declares Dividend

DIRECTORS of Northeastern Pennsylvania National Bank and Trust Co., at their meeting Tuesday, declared a regular quarterly dividend of fifty cents a share, payable Feb. 1, to shareholders of record Jan. 20.

Dr. Larkin Files Motion To Dismiss Tax Indictment

COUNCIL for Dr. Thomas E. Larkin yesterday filed a motion in U. S. District Court, Scranton, asking dismissal of an indictment charging evasion of some $1,900 in federal income taxes.

Dr. Larkin, who resides in Cresco, is the $20,000-a-year umpire for the Anthracite Board of Conciliation. The indictment, returned by a federal grand jury in Scranton Dec. 14, charges him with violating the law on payment of income taxes for 1956, 1957 and 1958.

Through his attorney, J. Julius Levy, Dr. Larkin contends the indictment does not state facts sufficient to constitute an offense against the United States.

Motion
The motion to dismiss the action charges Dr. Larkin was denied due process of law and rules and regulations of the Treasury Department and the Department of Justice in that he was not advised that criminal proceedings would be taken against him or given an opportunity to answer the charge against him.

Judge Frederick V. Follmer, who heard the motion yesterday, set Feb. 16 at Scranton for arguments on the motion.

No Injuries In Crash On Route 611

MT. POCONO — No one was injured in a collision between two tractor-trailers on Route 611 five miles north of here at 4:20 a.m. yesterday.

State Police of the local barracks identified the drivers as Theodore Hughes, 28, of 9 Rowlands Lane, Wyoming, operating a vehicle owned by Dupont Carrier Co., Pittston, and Gerald Shriver, 30, of 505 Hector St., Ithaca, N.Y., driving a rig owned by Crispell Brothers, Ithaca.

Attempting To Pass
Troopers said Shriver was attempting to pass another vehicle when the accident occurred. Damages were listed in excess of $1,200.

Vacation Unfit Calls Meet Off
POCONO Mountain Vacation Bureau meeting scheduled for last night was postponed for one week due to weather conditions. The meeting will be held at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Close Named Shawnee Fire Head

SHAWNEE-ON-DELAWARE — Sanford Close was reelected president of the Shawnee Fire Co. at its recent election.

Other officers are Arthur Ackerman, vice president; Ronald Clapper, secretary; LeRoy Walter, treasurer; Harry Lock, chief; Kenneth Stettler, assistant chief; Frank Kober, Jr., engineer, and Arthur Mosteller, assistant engineer.

Named to the board of directors were Close, Ackerman, Ronald Clapper, LeRoy Walter, Donald Wittercraft, Emmett Fish, Lawton Clapper, Oren Shively, Mosteller, Fred Walter, G. W. Stettler, Jr., and Herbert Primrose.

It was announced that the recondition tank truck has been delivered and the new siren installed at Four Maples Press in Minisink Hills.

The company will host the Four-County Firemen's Assn. meeting on Feb. 9.

Cresco Man Committed

ARTHUR HARDY, 38, of Cresco, was committed to the Monroe County Jail yesterday by Justice of the Peace Clifford L. Bush, Cresco.

Hardy faces a drunk and disorderly charge by his wife, Adelaide Hardy, Cresco.

YMCA Drive Goal $9,000

A GOAL of $9,000 has been set for the Monroe County YMCA's annual membership campaign opening next Monday night, General Chairman Jack Haswell reported yesterday.

Total strength of the drive will be 90 workers, with 30 or one-third of the total participating in their first campaign. Mrs. Alberta Yutz is co-chairman.

Leaders of the four divisions are W. C. G. Peterson, Stuart Pipher, Frank Ashley and Claude Arnold. Captains serving under Peterson are Gordon Coy, Richard Frantz, Mrs. Calvin Schoch, and William Moran.

Mrs. Robert Bennett, Joseph DeRenzi, Mrs. Alfred Sumberg and Robert Wilson are captains in Pipher's division.

Ashley's Captains

Ashley has named Mrs. Frank Sills, Henry Reader, Mrs. Arthur Cramer and John Wilson as his captains.

Serving under Arnold are Dr. Peter K. Emmons, Arthur Troegner, Horace Walters and Lloyd Miller.

Each captain will have four workers on his team, Haswell explained.

The drive opens with a Dutch treat kick-off dinner at the YMCA at 6 p.m. Monday. The first report meeting is Monday, Jan. 30; the second on Monday, Feb. 6, and the final meeting Monday, Feb. 13.

Wage Tax Discussion Closed To The Public

THE SCHEDULED meeting of the finance committee of Stroud Union School District with Atty. Edward Williams and Herbert Crane, Auditor, will be closed to the public, a spokesman for the district said last night.

The purpose of the session is to discuss a possible wage tax to be applied in the Stroud Union District. Any action taken at the meeting will not be final and the results of the discussion will be made known to the board at one of its regular meetings.

The school board meets the third Wednesday of each month at 8 p.m. in the Stroud Union High School.

Effect Of Tax Cut

"This administration will . . . undertake, by executive action or proposal to the Congress, any measure—including tax reduction if, after consultation with congressional leaders, such action should prove desirable and necessary—that will assist healthy economic recovery."

After the tax reduction recommendation by his economic task force, this quotation has the ring of a statement issued from President-elect Kennedy's headquarters.

Actually, they are the words of President Eisenhower nearly three years ago when he was being urged to take drastic action to combat the 1958 recession.

But in the end Mr. Eisenhower refused, in his words, "to be panicked" into a tax cut. He heeded the advice of Secretary of Treasury Anderson who felt that in the face of a huge budgetary deficit, the government could ill afford a further loss in revenue. This view, which prevailed, was supported, oddly enough, by Lyndon Johnson and Speaker Rayburn.

Tax reduction again is being urged as a means of restoring vigor to the economy. Perhaps this is the proper treatment. But it makes a world of difference how taxes are reduced.

A temporary tax forgiveness might have the same effect as the veterans' bonus in 1936 — a short-lived buying spurge (assuming the tax saving isn't banked) followed possibly by inflation and still higher taxes.

Tax repeal that is only temporary looks good in theory. What needs repealing instead are the inequities in the present tax structure that deny business the incentive to spend for new plant and equipment and thus rob workers of jobs.

Opinions Of Other Editors

High School Drivers

Two medical men from Denver, Drs. Murray E. Gibbons and Samuel P. Newman, have recommended to the American Medical Association that "complete behind-the-wheel" driver instruction be required in all high schools. And that each state make such training a qualification for drivers' permits to those under 20 years of age.

The second part of the recommendation is the essence of it.

Whether the instruction is provided by high schools (some provide it now) or otherwise acquired, it should be a must requirement in issuing licenses to auto operators.

The two doctors say 42 per cent of all deaths in the age group between 15 and 25 are caused by traffic mishaps. And about 30 per cent of all drivers involved in traffic fatalities are young people in this age group.

Using an auto is, or should be, a high responsibility. Accidents, so-called, are not avoided by mere skill and good reflexes in handling a car, although these things are necessary. Understanding driving conditions and the ability to anticipate trouble are important.

All the modern highways we can build and all the safety gadgets the auto manufacturers can devise won't make much of a dent in the needless traffic toll until we first get drivers on the roads who know how to drive.

Where better to start than with "first drivers"—the youngsters?

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Scarsdale Case

Intermarriage, racial or religious, always involves family problems. Religious intermarriages are not difficult for those who have no religion or who eschew their own in favor of another, but they never can guarantee what will happen to them as they grow older, whether historic memory, traditional responses, social relationships will not pull the individual in one direction or another.

The Scarsdale Case has attracted enormous and unusual attention. The father is a non-practicing Jew; the mother is a lapsed Roman Catholic.

The son, seeking a formal relationship with God, has turned to the Episcopal Church. He was invited to escort a young lady to the Scarsdale Golf Club and was rejected by the committee in charge because they characterized him as a Jew, a category of humanity repugnant to them.

Actually, he was only half a Jew because his mother was a Roman Catholic and the Scarsdale Golf Club might have permitted him to attend on a half time basis.

The boy made no fuss. The young lady whom he was to have escorted also did not. However, she declined to attend her debut which was a decent and moral act.

Her rector of the Episcopal Church in Scarsdale, with the approval of his Bishop and other clergy, refused Communion to those who had committed an un-Christian act. Father George French Kempell, Jr., the Episcopal minister who took this stern position, has thus far been fully supported by the ministry of his faith and by the clergy of other religions.

There is likely to be an increase in mixed marriages in this country and in many instances no pattern of religious affiliation is being followed in a family or where the young meet outside of church affiliation. The Roman Catholics insist that in such a marriage, the children should be brought up in that faith, but this rule is not always followed.

Indeed children are often left without any religious training or affiliation. In many families, it is left to the children to decide for themselves. They usually go as their marriages dictate and often involve their parents in emotional difficulties at an age when such misunderstandings can be disastrous. It is the children who have to resolve these emotional difficulties.

It is particularly troublesome, in a marriage between a Jew and a Christian, if one of the parents is a violent anti-Semite, because his or her bigotry sours the marriage and ultimately must produce confusion if the bigot lives long enough. Whereas love is supposed to overcome everything, it rarely overcomes bigotry.

As regards racial mixed marriages, the difficulties are plentiful. Marriages between whites and Negroes are forbidden in some states; in others, they are growing increasingly numerous. I know of four such marriages which seem to be like any others.

One of these marriages, I have noted for some years, as a very happy one for an offspring who is a musical genius and is doing remarkably well. It is, of course, impossible to know much about such human relationships without better study than has been made of these racial mixtures.

Marriages between whites and Orientals rarely present extraordinary problems, although in places and at times, the offspring have difficulties in starting life unless they are unusually gifted.

The Scarsdale Case will attract attention because of the firm stand taken by the Episcopal clergy who could not do otherwise, for why would an Episcopalian be discriminated against on the grounds that he was a Jew?

The young man did not attempt to join the Scarsdale Golf Club, which has a right to limit its membership to WASPs if it so desires, or for that matter to grave-diggers or bankers or in any other way.

A girl asked him to escort her to her debut—a silly custom which continues the business of putting girls on the marriage market. Would the club have been defiled by the presence of this Episcopalian?

Or do they object to him on racial grounds because his father's ancestors lived in Palestine 4,000 years ago and his mother's in Europe a generation or two ago?

The Scarsdale Golf Club may choose its guests according to the tastes of its members or it may one day sell its grounds to Father Divine to improve them or it may have to move away to some remote area to avoid direct contact with those from whom its members undoubtedly earn their living.

Warning To Ambitious Samsons

The Pennsylvania Story

Miffed Lawmakers

By Mason Dennis

Harrisburg—To the Lawrence Administration must go the questionable accolade of maintaining one of the worst kept budgetary secrets in many a year. . . . A number of lawmakers coming to Harrisburg on Monday to hear the Governor present his budget—theoretically to the Legislature—were miffed and irked to find that the public in effect had most of the juicy budgetary facts of life before they did themselves.

It must be said that undeniably lawmakers have a point, this time at least. . . . By constitutional decree the chief executive makes his budgetary report to the Legislature—after which the full budgetary run-down is available to the public.

As one nettled lawmaker phrased it: "The specific facts carried in the public prints last week were too specific to be 'speculation'—the administration obviously maintained loose 'security' this time."

A point worth noting: In the past—most notably preceding the current Lawrence Administration—"security" was tight insofar as budgets were concerned. . . . The point was dined home to newsmen that while they were being accorded the courtesy of a "budgetary preview"—to permit familiarity and detailed study of the complicated fiscal tome—budgetary facts of life were not to be disclosed until after presentation to the lawmakers.

The theme was feebly stressed in the present case—but the obvious "leaks" on specific points a week beforehand told an entirely different tale, at least insofar as some of the lawmakers were concerned who complained that on Monday they had to sit through what they termed "merely a rehash."

Walls of Anguish—The Lawrence Administration fully expects to hear walls of anguish from merchants on its proposal to eliminate the current two per cent commission paid merchants on collection of the sales tax. . . . Administration budget officials estimate this commission elimination will enrich state coffers to the tune of around $8,000,000.

However in actuality Pennsylvania merchants would not be in the position of being exclusively penalized—that is, alone of all the sales tax collecting states. . . . The actual fact is that of 35 states imposing a sales tax, 18 states do not provide a discount for vendors. . . . Nevertheless, the proposal faces trouble when it starts to sail legislative waters.

Confusion Plus—As noted in this column yesterday there is more than adequate room for confusion on the budget for Pennsylvania presented this week by the Lawrence Administration. . . . It's had enough switching from a two-year to a one-year fiscal stranglehold—but this 13-month fiscal year the Governor has proposed (for this year only) makes it even worse, if that's possible.

For example, you want to compare the proposed General Fund expenditure for this fiscal year with the past two-year fiscal period. . . . In theory, you would simply multiply by two—but alas, it isn't quite that simple. . . . Everything must be divided by one-thirteenth and then multiplied by two.

To illustrate: The General Fund figure for the present two-year 1959-61 fiscal period is $1,765,179,587. The budgetary figure proposed for the upcoming 1961-62 fiscal year is $991,126,372—but that's a thirteen-month figure, so you divide that by one-thirteenth and come up with $76,255,874, which must be subtracted from the 13-month figure of $991,126,372—and you get $914,870,498, or the 12-month figure.

Multiply this by two (to get the comparison with the previous two-year biennial figure, and you have a General Fund figure for the coming two fiscal years of $1,829,740,996.

From this you subtract the General Fund total for the two-year 1959-61 biennium and you come up with $64,561,409, which is—let's see, oh yes—a comparative figure of how much greater the General Fund budget is than the last two-year period, that is, by projecting it on a two-year span. . . . For the 13-month span though, divide by two and add one-thirteenth—

About Town

—By Gene Brown

The Blind in the Blind: Two duck hunters were sitting behind their blind early one morning. One was drinking coffee from a thermos. The other was guzzling whiskey from a jug.

Several hours passed before a lone duck came overhead. Taking quick aim the coffee drinker rose, fired and missed. The whiskey drinker also got up, aimed at the bird and brought it down.

His companion, properly amazed, complimented him on the shot.

"Aw, it's nothing," he replied. "I usually get five or six out of a flock like that."

The gal from the big city was visiting in the country. She remarked to her host, "What a lovely cow! But why doesn't it have horns?"

"Well," the farmer slowly explained, "some cows do not have horns until later in life, others have had them removed and others never have them at all. . . . but this animal doesn't have any because it's a horse!"

The Allen-Scott Report

Hunger Plagues Cuba

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — Premier Fidel Castro is urgently appealing to Russia and Red China for large shipments of rice, beans and other food to avert widespread hunger in his country by Spring.

So far the Cuban dictator has had indifferent success in obtaining these critically needed supplies.

The Soviet and Red China themselves are plagued with food shortages. Severe weather conditions and extensive bureaucratic mismanagement last year caused serious crop losses in both countries.

So their response to Castro's increasingly frantic pleas has been considerably less than what he is seeking.

The Cuban food situation is becoming so grave that a ration-card system is being secretly set up. The plants in which this printing is being done are under heavy military guard.

Also, Ernesto ("Che") Guevara, economic czar of Cuba, may again hustle to Moscow to personally ask Khrushchev for more help. The Argentine-born hard-core Communist returned from a lengthy Iron Curtain trip only two months ago with loud claims of trade and other assistance.

A major factor in Cuba's rapidly developing food crisis is the drastic depletion of its once-numerous cattle herds, built up chiefly by Americans.

Last year, to offset food shortages due to sharply reduced rice and other imports from the U.S., Castro and Guevara virtually decimated these expropriated herds, including prize breeding cattle. As a consequence, this import and food source was doubly hit — leaving little beef and less productive capacity.

Cuba has long been a food importer, with most of it coming from the U.S., principally rice and beans. These shipments ceased months ago, and have been only partially replaced by Communist bloc and other sources.

In a bind — A key problem confronting Castro is seeking food supplies is lack of money and credit. Non-Communist countries could readily provide Cuba with all the rice, beans and other food it urgently needs. But the longwinded dictator hasn't the means to buy them.

Cuba's main trading commodity is sugar, but on that he is hobbled in two ways: (1) The Cuban sugar crop will be appreciably less than last year, which was below previous levels. Further, for this reduced output, Castro will get a great deal less return.

For one thing, he has lost the $100 million that Cuba derived from the 2½ cents the U.S. paid above the market price.

(2) There is abundance of sugar throughout the world, the estimated world crop is a record high of 38 million tons. Russia has a sugar surplus, and is looking for customers. Guevara made deals with the Red bloc to barter sugar for goods, oil and plants — at prices fixed by the Communists.

They will undoubtedly dump Cuban sugar on the world market. That's what Russia did with Egyptian cotton, which it didn't need after Nasser traded it for weapons.

Central Intelligence Director Allen Dulles has informed President-elect Kennedy that Castro's "popularity in Cuba has sunk to a low of 25 per cent from 90 per cent when he came into power in January 1959. If a free election could now be held, he would be overwhelmingly repudiated."

However, despite mass disapproval of him, the bearded dictator is stronger than ever before because of his greatly increased "repressive power."

This massive control is due directly to the huge influx of arms he has obtained from Russia. Dulles pointed out to Kennedy that it is established Red strategy to immediately build up the military strength of its foreign minions so they can suppress popular efforts to overthrow them.

That is what is taking place in Cuba. On one hand, Dulles declared, Castro's regime has sunk to a record low in mass popularity, but at the same time he is stronger than ever to combat revolts against his Red rule.

Dulles also is of the opinion that it is impossible to negotiate with Castro because he is not his own master and is wholly under Kremlin domination.

Red base — Since last July, more than 50 Russian cargo vessels have unloaded upwards of 50,000 tons of goods in Cuba, chiefly oil, machinery, fertilizer, motor vehicles, wheat and canned goods.

More than 2,500 Cubans are being sent to Iron Curtain countries for training as technicians. In addition, several hundred are going to Red China for such training.

Czechoslovakia is planning to stage a so-called "industrial fair" in Havana in May, featuring machinery and autos. Who will buy the latter is a big question. . . . In the past week, several Greek ships have unloaded electrical and agricultural machinery, steel, glass and pharmaceuticals in Havana.

Czechoslovakia is supplying Castro with rockets having an estimated range of 50 miles. They could be used against the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo. . . . A Cuban trade delegation, headed by Undersecretary of Foreign Affairs Hector Llompart, is in Bulgaria seeking food and other supplies. Early this month this delegation signed a trade agreement with satellite Rumania.

India's Problems Mounted By Growth, Methodists Told

BUCK HILL FALLS — To the age-old economic and social problems of hundreds of thousands of villages in India and Pakistan has been added in recent years "urban problems" of the most acute kind in the growing cities of these lands, the Rev. Dr. Roland W. Scott told the Board of Missions of the Methodist Church at its annual meeting today. Dr. Scott, a former missionary in India, is executive secretary of the Church's work in these two lands.

"The cities of India and Pakistan have become vast new areas for the work of the church," Dr. Scott noted. He pointed to the situation in Bangalore where population has doubled every ten years during the last three decades, and where large new industrial plants have been built and employ many thousands of people who have migrated from simple village life. Similar growth is noted in Madras, Calcutta, Karachi, Hyderabad, Delhi, and elsewhere. The great concern of the church is to meet the challenge in these cities, said Dr. Scott.

The Challenge

The challenge in the villages is no less than it has been as the Christian church grows to understand the forces at work and the needs of India and Pakistan, he added. He quoted a missionary as saying, "The task grows more and more challenging whether it be working in a village community to dig a well by self-help methods in order to provide a safe water supply, or whether it be strengthening the Indian economy by upgrading village poultry or introducing improved varieties of vegetables, or whether it be giving one's heart and mind and hands to make the Christian healing ministry incarnate through planning for and constructing a new village medical service, or whether it be cooperating with government's new extension scheme in providing MCOR milk powder for milk centers for school children with deficient diets, or whether it be training village laymen to give a vital witness for Christ by conducting worship services where pastors cannot visit rural congregations each week."

Concerning India's need for more food for her growing population, and the government's attention to the problem, Dr. Scott said:

Continues To Engross

"The unprecedented effort of India to overcome low productivity for its 400 million people continues to engross the nation. A third five-year plan has been disclosed with the goals of self-sufficiency in food grains, of increase of national income by 5 percent annually, of expansion of basic industries such as fuel, steel and power; of raising employment, and achieving an equitable distribution of wealth and income. The total national investment in the plan is expected to be $21,420,000,000 with outside aid estimated at $4,500,000,000.

In line with the declared intentions of the United States to assist India in her economic development, the plan envisages the United States as the principal outside contributor. The success of past economic planning is indicated by the fact that finished steel production at present is 260 percent greater than in 1950. The third plan calls for an increase in electric power generating capacity double that of the present. In the social field the goal is to establish free and compulsory education for the 6 to 11 age group, and to provide drinking water and a school in each of India's 560,000 villages.

Dear Abby

Watch Your Step

Dear Abby: I've gone with Homer for 7 years. I am 28 and he is 36. Neither of us has ever been married, but he was engaged twice. (People say his mother broke them up.) Homer is an only child and lives with his widowed mother. He's asked me to marry him and promised me his mother's diamond. But she's still wearing it. When we go to dinner we either take his mother with us or hurry home to have coffee with her. When Homer is at my apartment, she calls him and tells him not to stay too late. Last Sunday we were late for church because she made him change suits twice! Do you think he'd make a good husband? He is financially solvent.

LONG ENGAGEMENT

Dear Abby: He may be financially solvent, but he sounds emotionally bankrupt. I see only one advantage to marrying this man: you will always be able to find him—attached to his mother's umbilical cord.

Dear Abby: All my married life (eleven years) I have had to get up first in the morning, light the heaters, and see that everybody else got up, including my husband.

Don't you think that a man who wants to be "the head of the house" in all other matters should be the first one out of bed when the alarm goes off? Also, who should look up for the night?

AVERAGE WIFE

Dear Abby: I think the man of the house should look up for the night. But the wife should be the first one out of bed to start the home fires burning.

Dear Abby: Can a person break out in a rash from living in a stucco house? Ever since I've lived in this stucco house (13 years) I have had a skin rash.

The only time it clears up is when I go to the hospital to have a baby, or if I leave town on a trip.

When I was away on a trip I stayed in a stucco motel and the rash came back, so I figured it has to be the stucco. Can you help me on this?

"BROKEN OUT"

(I'm home now.)

Dear Abby: A dermatologist (skin doctor) can tell you whether you have an allergy, and if so, to what. Give him as many cues as possible, but let HIM diagnose the case.

Saylorsburg Playground Buys Lot

SAYLORSBURG Playground Assn. has purchased a lot in Ross Township which will be used by the Saylorsburg baseball team and will also be developed for playground use by youngsters.

A deed transferring the lot was filed yesterday in the office of Mrs. Jeannette F. Batory, Monroe County register and recorder.

The property was sold by Ezra C. and Edna F. Kresge, Ross Township, to Joseph Simon, Raymond F. Hoffner and Andrew Schaffer, trustees for the association.

Also filed yesterday was a deed transferring a lot in East Stroudsburg from Daniel E. and Jean Krynick, Mt. Pocono, to Raymond C. and Janet S. Knorr, East Stroudsburg.

G-D-S Fair Planners Will Meet

NEWFOUNDLAND — Although August and September seem far away it is not too soon to begin planning for the 44th annual Greene-Dreher-Sterling Community Fair," Carroll Fetherman, president of the association pointed out this week in announcing the first planning session of the year to be held at Southern Wayne Joint School on January 25.

"All members and anyone interested in helping make the fair a success are urged to attend the meeting beginning at 8:30 pm," he said.

The fair this year will begin on August 30 and will continue through September 2.

Kills Wife, 4 Children

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP)—A Grand Blanc man shot and killed his wife and four children yesterday, then turned a deer rifle on himself.

Dead are Thomas Clark, 37, and his wife, Janet, also 37, and their four children, Carl, 12, Kathleen, 11, Karen, 10, and Kurt, 8.

The pajama-clad bodies of Mrs. Clark and the children were found in beds on the second floor of their two-story home here. Police said each had been shot once with a deer rifle.

Clark's body was found fully clothed in a downstairs bedroom. A deer rifle was beside him.

Police said the shootings apparently occurred sometime early in the morning. The bodies were discovered around 5 p.m.

Neighbors reported Clark, a supervisory employee at the Fisher body plant in Grand Blanc, had been despondent lately.

He recently had returned from Kansas City where he worked at another General Motors plant, police said.

Magazine Stopped By Nazis Resumes With Lauds For U.S.

By DON ALLEN

A BERLIN magazine suppressed by the Nazis in 1933 has resumed publication with a special issue dedicated to "friendship and gratitude" to the people of the United States.

Approximately 200,000 copies of the Berliner Illustrierte have been mailed to leaders in all walks of American life, the editors report.

It is a scathing condemnation of the Soviet Union and its East German and East Berlin satellites. The only references to Adolf Hitler and Nazism are on the editorial page and are definitely unflattering.

Flattering Words

On the other hand, it has nothing but kind words for the United States. It features prominently a statement by President-elect John F. Kennedy and the lead article is entitled "50 Stars Protect Berlin."

Kennedy's statement is worth repeating in view of Khrushchev's repeated threats regarding Berlin.

"The world must know that we will fight for Berlin," Kennedy wrote. "We will never permit that city to fall under communist influence. We are defending the freedom of Paris and New York when we stand up for freedom in Berlin."

"A strong stand in Berlin and a strong American policy vis-a-vis Moscow are the two essential elements needed to restore the unity of Germany."

Perhaps the most effective contrast between the freedom enjoyed by West Germany and West Berlin compared to their counterparts behind the Iron Curtain is contained in the notes from a diary of an East German artisan who makes frequent trips to West Berlin.

Other articles cover such subjects as the Protestant minister who has two congregations—one on each side of the Iron Curtain—theater, art, fashions and—a subject of interest to men everywhere—the women of Berlin.

New South Wayne Board Member Takes Office Oath

NEWFOUNDLAND — A new member of the Southern Wayne Joint School Board, Bruce Banks, of Panther, was sworn in during the January business session at the school.

He succeeds Samuel DeFrehn, of Greentown, who resigned. Mr. Banks will also serve as a member of the Greene Township, Pike County, board.

Harold D. Lea, Sterling, presided during the business meeting.

E-J President Seeks Control

JOHNSON CITY, N. Y. (AP)—The president of the Endicott Johnson Corp. was quoted yesterday as saying he is attempting to find a legal way to acquire control of Endicott Johnson stock held by the Glen Alden Corp.

Dow Jones Business News Service said in a story from Johnson City that if Johnson was successful it would mean that Glen Alden had given up an attempt to take over the shoe company.

The story said Johnson was "very apt to meet" this week with Albert A. List, chairman and president of Glen Alden to discuss the proposal.

List could not be reached for comment.

Glen Alden, in a challenge to the shoe company's family management, has offered to buy an unlimited amount of Endicott Johnson's outstanding stock. Glen Alden is a diversified manufacturing concern.

Tokyo Earthquake

TOKYO (AP)—A slight earthquake—the 15th since yesterday afternoon—jolted Tokyo and eastern Honshu Tuesday. No damage or casualties were reported.

First In 1890

The Berliner Illustrierte first appeared in 1890, produced by the House of Ullstein. For 51 years, it appeared without the letter "e"—an early spelling mistake that became a tradition.

Then in 1941, after its seizure by the Nazis, they decided that it should be spelled properly, Berlin Illustrierte. Commenting on this, the magazine says: "We have dropped the 'e' again, for we prefer the old tradition to the new order of the Nazis. The last number of the Berliner Illustrierte to appear before Hitler's illegal seizure of power was dated Jan. 29, 1933. The last page was 136. For this reason the pages of this issue begin with 137 and without 'e'." In this small way we register our protest against the dead tyranny of Adolf Hitler and its Red rebirth under Walter Ulbricht.

Ulbricht is head of the Communist-controlled East German government.

The theme throughout the issue is that the Allies must not leave Berlin—that whoever rules Berlin will, one day, rule Germany. It identifies as the two most important men in Berlin the two American GIs whose job it is to raise and lower the United States flag each day.

In a world where far too many persons have doubts about the motives of the United States, this publication comes as a welcome change.

SALUTES U. S.—The Berliner Illustrierte, suspended by Hitler's Nazi government in 1933, has resumed publication with a special edition saluting the United States and its new chief of state, President John F. Kennedy, who takes office today. "We send it to people who have already proved they are our friends," the editors write in introducing the special edition. The magazine was founded in 1890 and published until its seizure. This is the first issue since then.

Termites Nip Wedding Again

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP)—The girls father wanted 1,000 shillings—$140—as the customary bride price and Silvestri Kisamunyu had only a third that much.

His mother stashed the money in a bamboo tube under her sleeping mat. Silvestri went to work in the copper mines.

Five months later, with the wedding on again, the Kisamunyus discovered that termites had turned the cache into confetti.

The wedding is off again.

Russians 'Hold' May Be Final Grip

Jack Gelinas

LAGOS, Nigeria — In the West's bid to hold Africa, it is still too early to predict things to come and the direction eventually to be taken by such newly independent countries as Nigeria, the states of the former French West African community and for that matter, even Ghana, which is plotted by a self-proclaimed 'Socialist-Marxist'.

But what troubles me is that we might already be too late in repairing what were, until a few confused months ago, undaunted beaches of Eastern resistance, which are slowly giving way at some points to the gentle, rhythmic pounding of the Communist surf, which carries to the shores of these new nations evidence of wanting to be 'friends' with the black man . . . of wanting to share, not it's political ideologies (at this early stage), but rather in sports 'competition, cultural programs and an exchange of 'friendship visits' etc.

At Washington this week, a Special Presidential Committee on Information Activities Abroad recommended "drastic and prompt" improvements in Africa to deal with the Communist apparatus in those areas. President Eisenhower said he was making the report available for future use by the Kennedy administration. I hope the new administration gives preference to this report and that G. Mennen Williams puts it high on his list of priorities.

But then I ask myself what, if anything, can be done to make our white-cap appeals for the democratic way of life more effective. Our Information Service agency here is doing an outstanding job, when you consider how they are increasingly finding themselves in a position of having to defend Communist currents and cross-currents are partly responsible for this. We can not win by treading water.

"Ugly American" But what worries me is not the Communist competition, or even the occasional 'Ugly American' abroad. What does bother me, however, is the 'Ugly American' at home. They are readily brought to mind these days when we think of New Orleans and the University of Georgia, or, should I cite the incident that happened in Charlottesville, Virginia, early this week when a Nigerian Diplomatic officer stopped at a restaurant for lunch. He was told firmly that he could not be served; that the restaurant caters only to whites.

After showing his diplomatic passport, which read, "C. C. Uchuno, Second Secretary, Nigerian Embassy, Washington," the restaurant owner reluctantly took his order, handed it to him in a paper bag and told him he'd have to eat it outside. He was even denied a cup of coffee, according to reports here. The last time I talked to Mr. Uchuno he was strongly pro-American — that was before he went to Washington.

News of incidences such as this, come like wrecking waves of devastation, flooding our State Department's efforts abroad.

The Nigerian press has carried much about U. S. desegregation explosions recently, and the Charlottesville restaurant incident, which touched the Nigerian people personally, has prompted such headlines as, "NGNC (National Council of Nigeria and Cameroons) Attacks U.S.," editorials headed, "Government Should Insist On U.S. Apology" and comments from friends, politely querying the possibility that maybe many Americans must wear a mask when working abroad to hide their true home-grown feelings. This is disheartening.

"Reassuring" In the same editorial insisting on a U.S. apology, it is further stated: "the remarkable attitude of our (Nigeria) government toward the USSR recently, is very reassuring and we hope it is a sign of more and greater cooperation between us and Russia in the years ahead."

I think it is time we start fighting those things at home which Soviet propagandists can feed on. We should fight these things as strongly and with as much dedication and determination as we fight Communism itself. This is necessary, if we are to save Africa from capsizing in the slowly rising Communist tide.

Tonight I'm going to a variety show at the National Stadium. I am confident that it will be good, but I know that it won't be relaxing. Who's staging it? Why, the Russians — who else?

Dr. Sockman To Speak At Buck Hill

DR. RALPH J. Sockman, widely known radio and television speaker, minister, author and columnist, will speak at the Washington Area Retreat in Buck Hill Falls, Jan. 23-25.

Dr. Sockman has been minister of Christ Church (Methodist) in New York City since 1917. In wide demand as a lecturer, Dr. Sockman delivered the Mendenhall Lectures at DePauw University in 1956, and has given the Lyman Beecher Lectures at Yale University. He is now associate professor of practical theology at Union Theological Seminary in New York City.

Since 1928 his voice has been known to thousands throughout this country, and Canada through his sermons on the National Radio Pulpit. He is known to other thousands as the author of a syndicated newspaper column, "A Lift for Living."

He is the author of numerous books, including: A Lift For Living, The Higher Happiness, Now To Live, The Whole Armor of God, Date With Destiny, and The Paradoxes of Jesus (Apex), all published by Abingdon Press.

Kiwanis Theme Outlined

BANGOR — Dr. Clarence W. Dupee, of Stroudsburg, past lieutenant governor, outlined the 1961 theme of Kiwanis International, "Citizenship Quotient," at the dinner meeting of the local club at the Colonial Hotel Tues. evening.

He observed that the theme is primarily designed to make American citizens aware of their heritage and of the never ending strife against the evils of Communism and other totalitarian forms of government.

Dr. Dupee, heading a delegation of five Stroudsburg club members for an interclub gathering, also elaborated on the theme, "What Kiwanis Means to Me," for the benefit of both members and prospective members in attendance.

Prospective Members Introduced as prospective members of the local club were Richard Cruver, Pen Argyl Area Joint High School band director and faculty member, a native Bangorian; Joseph Mastriani, a native of Albany, N.Y., who has acquired Ronco's Pharmacy, Roseto, and is operating it as Joseph's Pharmacy; he is married to the former Diana Sabatine; and James McPherson, of Eddyside, a research chemist for General Aniline and Film Corp., Easton.

Dr. Dupee was accompanied by Woody German, president of the Stroudsburg club; Dr. H.C. Cryder, John Dunkelberger and Ed Steinhauer, Harold Crane, of the Eastern club, also was a visitor.

Clair H. Peiffer, local president, was in charge and announced that Cruver, Mastriani and McPherson will be inducted into membership at the meeting Tuesday, Jan. 31.

Next Wednesday the club travels to Emmaus to meet with Emmaus Kiwanis. Bangor is tentatively scheduled to provide entertainment.

CHORUS TO APPEAR HERE—This is the Tulsa University High School at 3 p.m. Sunday, Jan. 29, in a special concert in honor of the late Tom Waring of Shawnee-on-Delaware.

Income Tax Facts No. 2

Dependents And Exemptions

(This is one in a series of articles on federal income tax filing. These articles are based on information provided by the Pennsylvania Institute of Certified Public Accountants in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

Each exemption claimed by a taxpayer is worth between $120 and $46 in federal income tax savings, depending on the income bracket. The exemption are granted for the taxpayer and spouse and for each dependent. Each exemption entitles the taxpayer to deduct $600 from taxable income.

Children as Dependents

A child qualifies as a dependent. One under age 19 qualifies even when his annual earnings are in excess of $600 if the taxpayer provides over half of the child's support. The child may also be a dependent if he is over 19 and earning over $600 per annum but only if he is a full time student; i.e., attending school during five calendar months of the year. Again, the taxpayer must be providing over half of the child's support.

Claiming the child as a dependent does not exempt him from filing his own return. A child earning over $600 per annum must file a return. He is entitled to a $600 exemption even though claimed as a dependent by his parents. Even if the child's earnings were less than $600, it is necessary to file a return to have the withheld federal income tax refunded.

Married Children

Although the child marries during the year, a dependency deduction may still be taken if the child agrees not to file a joint return.

$6 Million Hike Sought By PSU

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — A $6 million boost in operating appropriations from the state is needed if Pennsylvania State University is to meet its responsibilities, President Eric A. Walker said yesterday.

His comments came after Gov. Lawrence's administration had recommended state aid for the university about in line with what is contained in the present budget.

In the biennial budget, $17,193,865 was appropriated for Penn State in fiscal 1960-61. Dr. Walker has asked for $23,919,014 for the forthcoming year starting June 1, but in Gov. Lawrence's budget recommendations to the legislature the Penn State item was left about unchanged at approximately $17 million.

"The additional funds," Walker explained, "will be used to raise faculty and staff salaries, to cover the cost of operating a growing plant, to admit 1,200 more students, and to start new research projects of the most pressing importance to Pennsylvania agriculture and industry."

State support of the university represents about 32 per cent of its annual operating budget.

Walker said in a statement that his faculty is now teaching more students and doing more research than at any other university in the commonwealth, and that it was doing so "with a budget stretched to the breaking point."

turn. However, the taxpayer must provide more than half support during the year. This is generally applicable in the year of marriage especially, if the marriage occurs late in the year.

Births and Deaths

The dependency deduction of $600 is allowed in full regardless of when during the year the dependent was born or had died. For instance, a child born on December 31, 1960 would entitle the parents to a full $600 exemption for 1960, or a dependent parent who died on January 1, 1960 would likewise entitle the child to a full $600 exemption for 1960.

What Constitutes Support

Support generally includes expenditures for food, shelter, clothing, medical and dental care, education and the like. It does not include school scholarships. Support not only includes cash expenditures but also many of a noncash type. For example, support furnished in the form of lodging is measured by the fair market value.

Multiple Support

If several persons contribute to the support of a close relative without anyone of them contributing more than half of the total support, those contributing more than 10 per cent of the support can agree each year to let one member of the group take the dependency deduction. It is necessary however, for each member of the group to file Form 2120 as provided by the Internal Revenue Service.

Both the taxpayer and spouse may claim an additional $600 exemption for both blindness and or being over 65. Thus, a tax-

Urge Conversion Of Shipyard

WASHINGTON (AP) — Conversion of the Philadelphia Naval Shipyard so it could overhaul and repair nuclear-powered as well as conventional submarines was proposed in Congress Wednesday.

Rep. James E. Van Zandt, R-Pa., introduced a bill which would authorize the change.

Unless the conversion is made, he said, jobs of 900 workers and vast amounts of equipment could be placed in jeopardy.

Home Office — Columbus, O.

What would you say to a son who says he wants to go into advertising?

If his answers satisfied me that his wish to get in the business were more than a passing youthful phase, like taking banjo lessons; if he actually looked on advertising as a business rather than as a glamor world of jet planes, fine restaurants, substantial pay checks and big names, I'd take him up on the mountain.

From the top of this mountain I would show him a country at work—the first shift going into a factory, a thousand men and women funneling into a great office building, lines of tireless machines putting the tops on cans, the caps on bottles, the wrappers around boxes.

I'd show him modern farmers seeding fields, cowhands rounding up meat, great combines getting in the harvest.

We'd see Red Ball freights rolling through the night, a clutch of trucks stopped for lunch, big jets streaking across the sky. We'd hear the quarters dropping in a toll road box.

We'd see women pushing carts in big supermarkets; loading them up with the food that makes red cheeks, strong bones, willing muscles.

We'd see forty million kids starting off for school, churches letting their people out in Sunday best, lines of well patients paying off the bills with their hospital plan cards.

We'd look at squads of big-bellied cement mixers, mixing the stuff it takes to build on the way to where they're building it.

We'd see rockets blasting off, telescopes counting new stars, researchers figuring out brand-new things to make in pioneer test tubes.

Then, in another mood, we would sit down and consider the good life of America's many golf courses, bowling alleys, fishing streams, ski lifts and theaters.

Then we would think about the baby crop getting bigger and bigger as the undertaker's haul gets smaller; families moving from holes-in-the-wall, to row homes, to houses with two baths.

We would look again and see women with new hats, kids with new bikes, men with new cars.

We would see factory time clocks, punched forty hours or less each week so people have more time to play and rest and sport as well as work and eat and pay the rent. And bigger and bigger pay checks, for fewer and fewer hours' work and, I would point out, for more and more hours to spend and enjoy them in.

Then I would say,

"When you hear some people say that the old car will do, that things would be better if we'd put a patch on the hole in our pants, freshen up the old gray bonnet with a new daisy, and mix up our own toothpaste with a little salt and beeswax, smile politely, but don't believe a word of it."

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

No matter how bright the company or fascinating the program after the snow started, women kept a wary eye out the window and clung to one thought: "I've got to get home."

Life was doubly complicated for women attending the Garden Club meeting—particularly those who had brought arrangements. They not only had to get themselves home but also their pet. Variegated Eucalyptus. That name fascinates me and I hope I never find out what it really looks like because I've such a wild picture of it in my imagination.

The snow had already started before the meeting began so the women deserve a lot of credit for turning out at all in such numbers. But it did cause a certain amount of confusion. Mrs. Kiffin got there without the gavel she wanted to turn over to Mrs. Van Why. The laughter had hardly died down from discovering that fact, when it started up again when Mrs. Travis confessed she'd forgotten the club's retirement gift for Mrs. Kiffin.

At any rate, they had a fine time and will have some pleasant memories if they get snowed in for the next month. Having made it home for supper, I was most reluctant to go back to work afterwards. The tracks I'd made walking up the driveway had already drifted over, and on the road there were no tracks at all. I felt as if I were driving in a soundless, sightless, deserted world.

At that, I prefer it to the chaos that must be reigning in Washington, D.C. I wonder if anybody thought to include white fur-lined boots in that long white gown Mrs. Kennedy is going to wear to at least three Inaugural Balls tonight? And whether high silk hats ever come equipped with ear muffs?

And if I ever get home before morning, maybe I can watch television and see.

Garden Club Installation Begins New Club Year

Installation of officers marked the meeting of the Monroe County Garden Club with more than 50 members present at the YMCA despite the storm blowing up outside. Mrs. Irving B. Kiffin, president for two terms, concluded the business of her administration, including a report of the auditing committee given by Mrs. J. Harold Lanterman, and a review of the ABC's of Garden Clubs.

Following the installation, conducted by Mrs. Elwood Grant, vice president, the new president, Mrs. Edgar Van Why presented the yearbooks, outlining the programs for the coming year.

Members were asked to bring old candle-stubs to the next meeting from which the Moravian Women of Bethlehem will make candle centerpieces for the National Council meeting next May.

Dried Arrangements
While the weather cut down on the number of exhibits, there were some interesting ones. Mrs. Grant had brought a Christmas tree made of Carolina hemlock, cut to 10 feet for a trunk.

She also exhibited a "Memory Tree" in which all types of seed pods had been woven into a cone of copper wire mesh including bottle blue gentian, red bud tree and beauty berry pods among the 32 varieties represented.

Mrs. A. Starr Phelps had an arrangement of dried seed pods in an antique container and Mrs. Lanterman an arrangement of shells from many shores.

On the president's table, an antique cherub held an arrangement of daffodils and violets.

As a horticultural exhibit, Mrs. Phelps exhibited a shrimp plant, the new grown on evergreens at this season, and variegated eucalyptus.

On the tea table antique Japanese figurines in red and gray flanked an arrangement of red coxcomb and grey artemisia in a black iron pot arranged by Mrs. Grant.

The program featured colored slides of local gardens taken by Mrs. Van Why as well as views of Longwood Gardens and the Laurel Blossom parade. Hostesses were members of the executive board with Mrs. Kiffin and Mrs. Van Why pouring.

Mrs. Kennedy's Ball Costume Revealed

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. John F. Kennedy Friday night steps into her role as this country's most important fashion influence by donning an inaugural ball costume.

The new First Lady is to appear at three different official celebrations in Washington in a slim-fitting, floor-length sheath skirt topped by a sleeveless, extremely full, overblouse.

A sheer white silk was the fabric used for the skirt of the dress which, up to now, has been shrouded with secrecy. The skirt is veiled with white chiffon.

The fitted underblouse is richly embroidered in silk and brilliants. A wispy chiffon overblouse, very full, puffing out at the hipbone makes modest, cloudy illusion out of the petite — size 9 — Jacqueline Kennedy figure.

Dress designer Ethel Frankau of Bergdorf Goodman's in New York also created a wrap of the same white silk for Mrs. Kennedy's treks between inaugural ball locations.

Accessories selected by the new First Lady for her sleeveless dress were 20-button white glove clutch bag, and white silk opera pumps, medium high.

POA Delegates Are Named

Mount Pocono — A delegate and alternate to represent Mount Pocono Camp 235, Patriotic Order of Americans were named at the meeting held at Tannersville. Mrs. Irene Hartman and Mrs. Charlotte Stout will attend the State Camp to be held in Reading in May.

Two new members, Miss Patricia Jane Starnier, Tannersville, and Miss Gladys Stout, Pocono, were obligated. Refreshments and games marked the social hour.

Altar Guild Of St. John's Names Workers

The first meeting of the new year for St. John's Altar Guild was held in Biggs' Restaurant with 30 members and a guest present.

Mrs. Joseph Barnes gave a talk on the meaning of the symbols used in many Christian churches, illustrating her theme with colored cards.

Mrs. Charles Ruloff urged all members to attend the World Day of Prayer Service to be held at St. John's Lutheran Church the first Friday in Lent and also urged members to attend the second annual dinner meeting of the Monroe County Council of United Church Women to be held Jan. 31 at 6:15 at the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

Mrs. John Dunkelberger will take reservations until Jan. 25. Mrs. Robert Long, president, named the following committees: Paramours, Mrs. Edwin Buck, Mrs. Lucy Heller, Mrs. James Hantjls, Mrs. Vernon Ellenberger, Mrs. Mitchell Ukenowich, Mrs. Bernard Miller Jr.

Communion Vessels, Mrs. Calvin Butts, Mrs. William Heckman, Mrs. Paul Ackerman, Mrs. Alden Rauchenberger and Mrs. Lewis Puzio; Flowers, Mrs. Henry Buck for members and Mrs. Reba Marean for the altar; Candles and Bible, Mrs. Joseph Barnes and Mrs. John Kitchen. Sacristy, Mrs. Donald Kramer, Mrs. Robert Keller, Mrs. Charles Gage, Mrs. Carl Wagner and Mrs. David Hardentine.

Program: Miss Thelma Shaw, Mrs. Gilbert Barthold, Mrs. Joseph Barnes, Mrs. Vernon Ellenberger and Mrs. Clarence Weiss; Hostesses, Mrs. Albert Address; telephone, Mrs. Edwin Buck, Mrs. Donald Kanause, Mrs. Donald Kramer and Miss Carrie Shupp. Mrs. Charles Ruloff is advisor.

Members present were Mrs. Donald Kramer, Mrs. William Heckman, Mrs. Charles Gage, Mrs. Vernon Ellenberger, Mrs. Stella Mervine, Mrs. Mary Blair, Mrs. Helen Kosco, the Lewis Puzio, Mrs. Charles Ruloff, Mrs. Albert Address, Mrs. David Hardentine, Mrs. Calvin Butts, Mrs. James Hantjls, Mrs. Henry Buck, Mrs. Arthur Homan, Mrs. John Dunkelberger, Mrs. Jesse James, Mrs. Frieda Smith, Mrs. Bernard Miller Jr., Mrs. Edwin Buck, Mrs. Clarence Weiss, Mrs. Paul Ackerman, Mrs. Ruth Long, Mrs. Alden Rauchenberger, Mrs. Rolland E. Duncan, Mrs. John Kitchen, Mrs. Joseph Barnes, Mrs. Helen Glennon and Mrs. Etta Lutsey, a guest from Wilkes-Barre.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. James, Mrs. Wagner, Mrs. Weiss, Mrs. Ackerman and Mrs. Buck.

Hill School Cafeteria Renovations

At their January meeting, the executive board of the East Stroudsburg Elementary Parent-Teachers Assn. authorized the cafeteria committee to order 17 new tables and 10 benches to be used in the newly-renovated lunch room. The members inspected the new ceiling and planned a painting session for Wednesday, Jan. 25.

The board also voted to recommend an outdoor Country Fair the first week in June as the year's fund raising project. The matter will be voted upon at the Feb. 8 PTA meeting.

Irving Sommer presided at the meeting. The next board meeting will be held Feb. 1 in the principal's office at the J. M. Hill School.

Oneg Shabbat Tonight For Temple Children

An Oneg Shabbat honoring the birthdays of four children of the congregation of Temple Israel will follow the Friday night services and will be held in the vestry rooms of the Temple.

Mrs. Maurice Flesher and Mrs. Irving Karpe will be hostesses. Children to be honored are: Elliott and Maurice Brown, Larry Flesher and Linda Green.

Smith Class Has Meeting

There were 13 members present for the meeting of Mrs. Robert B. Smith's Sunday School class in the social rooms of St. John's Lutheran Church this week. Prizes were won by Mrs. R. B. Smith and Mrs. Almiria Schmidt, who read a letter and a poem.

This is the last meeting of the class until after Easter.

Lodge Uses New Flag

The new 50-Star Altar Flag was used at the meeting of the Sons and Daughters of Liberty at their meeting this week in the Odd Fellows Hall.

Members planned to attend the annual George Washington Birthday banquet to be held in Philadelphia in February and the Tri County Booster meeting to be held in the Marine Band Hall, Allentown on March 16.

The past officers held a business meeting and had refreshments following the lodge session.

Church Women Plan Two Major Coming Events

Two major events: The World Day of Prayer to be held Feb. 17, and the annual dinner meeting of the Monroe County Council of United Church Women to be held Jan. 31 came in for discussion at the board of managers meeting held this week at the East Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church with Mrs. Roger Stimson presiding.

Reservations for the dinner, which will be held at the East Stroudsburg Methodist Church, should be sent to Mrs. Frank Tolman at the church by Jan. 25, by each church in the county.

Program for the annual meeting will include a speaker, music and dramatic readers. Officers for a new administration will be elected at the brief business meeting. Mrs. Edward Horn reported one new member, the Women's Assn. of the Presbyterian Church of the Mountain, Delaware Water Gap, bringing the total number of church societies affiliated with the Council to 18.

Representatives from each society were asked to bring a list of potential council workers to the dinner with their names, addresses, telephone numbers and specific talents.

World Day Of Prayer

Plans for the World Day of Prayer to be held Feb. 17 at St. John's Lutheran Church, Stroudsburg, were announced by Mrs. Charles H. Ruloff, chairman of the commission on Christian world missions. This will be the 75th anniversary of the first World Day of Prayer and will

The Wyckoff Shop

"the friendly store"

A.B. Wyckoff

STROUDSBURG, PA.

For the past several weeks I have been under rather considerable tension, and while I may appear outwardly calm, it's an act, pure and simple. Perhaps of this I was drawn to a rack of 1,000 books in our stationery department, and one attractive volume in particular called "The Little Book of Prayers." In the past half hour I have read it from cover to cover, and mused a bit over why the very last line in the book is the request, found in Luke, "Lord, teach us to pray." What moved the editor to make this the LAST line in a book of prayers, rather than the first? Was he thinking perhaps, "Now, God, since we have read all of these prayers to You, inspire us and make us capable of creating our own prayers?"

From that point, I began wondering whether or not I have ever really learned to pray. My own prayers, if set down on paper, would certainly not be beautiful, as are those in the book. Mine have little or no form . . . with me it's just a matter of carrying on a little one way conversation with God now and then throughout the day when I'm troubled, and at night when I turn out the lights and call it a day.

These published prayers are quite different . . . some are rather pompous in the light of today's casual English. Some are ritualistic. But there are a number I find particularly appealing, and some are all-encompassing but brief . . . such as Archbishop Laud's: Grant, O Lord, that we may live in Thy fear, die in Thy favor, rest in Thy peace, rise in Thy power, reign in Thy glory.

The tiny volume contains Moslem prayers, Arabian prayers, prayers by Thomas A. Kempis, St. Francis of Assisi, Robert Louis Stevenson, Ludwig Von Beethoven, Christina Rossetti, Queen Elizabeth I, St. Augustine, and an anonymous Mother Superior who incorporates in her petitions that she be spared from some of the personality flaws such as bossiness, over talkative, and an excess of self assuredness that alienate one's loved ones.

One prayer which I have long loved is St. Francis's classic, "Lord, make me an instrument of Thy peace: Where there is hatred, let me sow love; Where there is injury, pardon; Where there is discord, union; Where there is doubt, faith; Where there is despair, hope; Where there is darkness, light; Where there is sadness, joy. O Divine Master, grant that I may not so much seek to be consoled, as to console; To be understood, as to understand; To be loved, as to love; For it is in giving that we receive; It is in pardoning that we are pardoned; And it is in dying that we are born to Eternal Life."

There are short, pithy prayers like Reinhold Niebuhr's "God, grant me the serenity to accept the things I cannot change, the courage to change the things I can, and the wisdom to distinguish the one from the other" . . . and these few words from a Yorkshire tombstone: God, give me work till my life shall end, and life till my work is done."

Perhaps there is no perfect prayer . . . no prayer that says anything you as an individual would say to God, for there are few hearts that could be emptied of despair, fear, distrust, doubt, and the worries that plague mankind. If a prayer is meant to pour all these onto the great shoulders of God, perhaps one can only say, "God, look now into my heart. Quiet me . . . enlighten me . . . give me the understanding and compassion I lack, and restore the courage I have lost." Even then one cannot say it all!

East Stroudsburg Wins 2-0 Forfeit From Bowie

BOWIE, Md. — East Stroudsburg State College traveled 250 miles to gain a 2-0 basketball forfeit win from Bowie State College Thursday night.

No officials were on hand for the 8 p.m. tap-off and after an hour and a half wait, Bowie awarded the game to East Stroudsburg, by the 2-0 forfeit score. The home team is responsible for obtaining officials.

Several inches of snow fell in Bowie, a rural area, 18 miles from Washington, D. C. Thursday and the referees failure to appear, was blamed on the weather.

The East Stroudsburg squad planned to spend the night at Bel Air, Md. and return to East Stroudsburg Friday. But the snow conditions may delay the Warriors.

Cheyney Cancelled

East Stroudsburg was tentatively scheduled for a game at Cheyney tonight but the game was cancelled before the trip. The game was listed in some of the earlier schedules released by the East Stroudsburg athletic department.

The 2-0 victory, increases the Warriors' record to 7-1 and equals the number of wins the school posted in basketball last season.

The forfeit is credited as a team victory but is not used to compute individual or team statistical averages, such as points or rebounds per game.

All averages for the year will be based on 19 games, although the Warriors have a 20-game schedule.

The Warriors opened their road trip with a 69-61 win over Shippensburg Wednesday night. East Stroudsburg is idle until Wednesday when it meets Bloomsburg at Normal Hill.

Mounties Host Palmerton

Barrett Can Win PML First Half Title Today

BARRETT can clinch the first half title in the Pocono Mountain Scholastic Basketball League tonight, if he beats visiting Pleasant Valley.

Barrett is 4-0 in the league, while Pleasant Valley has a 3-1 mark. None of the other teams in the league are in contention.

In other area high school games tonight, last place Stroud Union is at home against first place Palmerton in a Lehigh Valley game. Southern Wayne is at North Pocono in a Wayne County League and Pocono Twp. is at Tobyhanna Twp. and Delaware Valley goes to Coolbaugh in the Pocono Mountain set-up.

Half Time

Barrett is 4-0 in the league, while Pleasant Valley has a 3-1 mark. None of the other teams in the league are in contention.

Coolbaugh Needs Win

Coolbaugh, which has not won in four league outings, needs a victory, coupled with a Tobyhanna Twp. win over Pocono Twp. to gain a tie for fifth place and escape its sole occupancy of the cellar.

And there could be a three-way tie for second place if Pleasant Valley loses and Tobyhanna and Delaware Valley win. That would give all three 3-2 records.

Southern Wayne, tied for the lead in the Wayne County League with Lake Ariel was idle for a week. Last Friday, the Stags bombed Honesdale 57-33, as Bob Strupcowski and Jordan Deskus teamed to outscore Honesdale.

The pair had 34 points. Stroud Union has dropped four straight Lehigh Valley League games since edging Lehigh in the opener. Palmerton and Slatton share the loop lead with 4-1 marks.

Palmerton beat Stroud Union twice last season including an overtime affair at Stroudsburg.

Goalby Leads Crosby

By JACK STEVENSON

Associated Press Sports Writer

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP) —

Bob Goalby led a par busting assault in the first round of Bing

Crosby's $50,000 Golf Tournament

Thursday with a tremendous finish and a six-under-par 66.

Goalby, a former football quarterback at Illinois, who won the $7,500 first prize in the Los Angeles

Open, fired five birdies and an eagle on the final six holes.

His card read 36-30 over the Monterey

Peninsula course.

He needed the great finish to take a one stroke lead over a sharp shooting foursome — defending champion Ken Venturi, Bill Collins, Dave Hill and Howie

Johnson who all had scores of 67.

Lost Chance

Venturi lost a chance to deadlock for the lead when his tee shot landed on the beach on the 18th at Pebble Beach and he took a one-stroke penalty.

Deadlocked at 68 were Jack

Burke, Jerry Barber and Dave

Ragan.

The Crosby combines an individual pro tourney and a pro-amateur with a total field of 300

golfers playing over three courses

— Monterey Peninsula, Pebble

Beach and Cypress Point.

Top prize in the pro division is $5,000 with $3,000 to the professional on the winning pro-amateur team.

Leading in the pro-amateur with a best-ball score of 60 were Dow

Finsterwald, Fred Kammer,

Grosse Point Farms, Mich., and

Burke and amateur George Coleman

Jr., of Palm Beach, Fla.

A total of 36 pros broke par 72 on the three courses. Perfect weather — a temperature of 75 and no wind — brought out a gallery estimated at 15,000.

In the big bunch at 69 were Al

Balding, Ted Kroll, Bob Rosburg,

Walter Burkemo, Sam Reynolds,

Titans May Give Patella Another Shot At Job

STEVE SEBO said yesterday, that the New York Titans would like to take another look at Nick Patella.

Patella, an East Stroudsburg High School and Wake Forest College grader, was unexpectedly released by the New York entry in the American Football League, a few weeks before the team opened its regular season.

Sebo, general manager of the Titans, was in town yesterday for a visit with Jack Gregory, East Stroudsburg State College football coach and Marty Baldwin, of Olympic Reconditioning.

"We may have cut Patella too soon," said Sebo, former University of Pennsylvania football coach. "I plan to contact Nick this week and see if he is still interested in playing for us."

At Wake Forest

Patella, still has a semester remaining at Wake Forest. He coached the Deacon freshman team this year.

When he was in East Stroudsburg for the Thanksgiving Vacation, Patella, a guard, said that he might play in Canada next season.

Sebo also cleared up a few points about Patella's release.

"We let Nick go just before our exhibition game with Buffalo," Sebo said. "The team had to cut its roster to meet the league requirement, and we wanted to keep players who had at least some professional experience."

Experienced Squad

Sebo explained that of the 35 players who finished the season with New York, 30 of them had either played in the National Football League, the Canadian League or had been to pro training camps.

The Titans had two guards, Bob Mischak and John McMullin, who had professional experience. Shortly before Patella's release, the Titans added another guard, Auburn's Frank D'Agostino, an all-American, who had some pro experience.

D'Agostino was dropped by the Titans later in the season.

"We thought that Frank would round into shape and since he had no experience, would help us more than Nick," said Sebo. "But D'Agostino failed to get in shape physically, and was dropped."

Sebo added that Sam Baugh, Titan coach, said after the season had started, that perhaps the club had let Patella go too soon.

Robinson Wins Court Decision

NEW YORK (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, former middleweight boxing champion, Thursday won a federal court decision over Nicholas Troilo, a Philadelphia toy manufacturer who had sued him for $75,000.

Troilo had sued the boxer for alleged breach of agreement.

The Philadelphia manufacturer charged that Robinson reneged on an agreement to defend his midweight title against Gene Fullmer in Philadelphia in October, 1956, under Troilo's promotion.

The jury deliberated only 20 minutes.

Robinson denied on the witness stand that any agreement was made. He said no contract was signed.

Schwartzwalder Pleased With Schoonover

Ben Schwartzwalder, Syracuse University football coach, chatted for a few minutes at the American Football Coaches Assn. convention in Pittsburgh last week, about Bill Schoonover, the former Stroud Union star, who played for the Orange freshman last fall.

"Bill should see a great deal of action for the varsity next year," said the 1959 "Coach of the Year."

"We were very pleased with his performance with the freshman team and we'll take a good look at him during spring practice."

Woody Erdman, who broadcasts the Syracuse football games, also said some good words about Schoonover. Erdman was in Pittsburgh to work on arrangements for the All-America Graduation Bowl in Buffalo this summer. Erdman is handling the radio and TV sale of the game.

"Schoonover is going to be one of the Syracuse greats," said Erdman, "I feel certain he will alternate at the starting fullback post next season."

McCarron Back On The Job

Joe McCarron, the Allentown Morning Call sports editor, is back on the job on a restricted basis, after suffering a heart attack six weeks ago.

McCarron is still confined to his home but doctors say he may be back on the job permanently in a few weeks.

The Pittsburgh basketball team, which dropped out of the National Basketball League less than 24 hours after getting a franchise, set two NBA marks that may never be broken.

It is the only team that never lost a game. But it never won a game either.

The Los Angeles Lakers will meet the Syracuse Nationals in a regular season NBA game at Scranton's CYC, Thursday, March 2.

Chamberlain's Complaint Rebounds

The complaint by Wilt Chamberlain that the teams in the NBA are playing zone defenses against him is not only getting Wilt no place but now league officials are warning Wilt to move out of the free throw lane and play a more aggressive man-to-man defense.

The refs say Wilt is playing a one-man zone, hoping to block any shots taken near the keyhole area. Zone defenses are banned in the NBA.

If attendance in the new American Football League is as high as it was last year, the teams should not lose nearly as much money as they did last year.

No Need For New Equipment

Most of the clubs will have to buy very little new equipment for the players, which was one of the biggest expenses last season and all the other items, such as dummies, field phones, etc. are all paid for.

But Los Angeles Chargers, who want to move their franchise to San Diego, recently completed a two-story office building that they will have to peddle before they move.

The Chargers say they lost $750,000 last year. They are unhappy about the rental they pay on the Los Angeles Coliseum, which is 10 percent of the gate receipts. The Coliseum gets all the money from concessions.

Hawks' Owner Kerner Not Interested In Pitt Franchise

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Owner Ben Kerner of the St. Louis Hawks declared Thursday he is unalterably opposed to granting a National Basketball Association franchise to Pittsburgh promoter Lenzy Litman "or anyone else in Pittsburgh at this time."

Kerner, a member of the NBA's expansion committee and board of governors, said Litman's claim that the NBA contacted Litman about a possible franchise as "a little twisted."

hours after he was granted the franchise.

Litman was quoted as saying a representative of NBA President Maurice Podoloff got in touch with him Wednesday and invited him to go to New York for further talks about a possible franchise.

Litman said certain conditions would have to be met, but added that he was leaning toward the new American Basketball League.

2 Italians In Tourney

NEW YORK (AP)—Italy's two Davis Cup stars, Nicola Pietrangeli and Orlando Sirola, have been invited to play in the National Indoor Tennis Championships at the Seventh Regiment Armory here Feb. 9-13.

Larry Hefrich, tournament chairman, said Thursday, "both are experienced indoor players and will add a lot of color to the tournament. Furthermore, they will give the Americans a chance to avenge our defeat in Australia."

The Italians upset the United States team in the Davis Cup inter-zone finals at Perth but lost to the Australians in the challenge round.

Class A Basketball Champ Farrell Almost Eliminated From Title Picture

By FRED WALTERS

HARRISBURG (AP) — Defending state champion Farrell has suddenly lost the winning habit and is on the brink of early elimination from this year's title race.

This is a strange piece of news about a team that has looked—and still does—like one of 1961's leading contenders for championship honors.

But the Class A titleholders have been upset twice in a row in WPIAL Section 3.

Difficult Picture
Now, the Steelers find themselves with the difficult task of whipping section-leading Sharon three times in order to make it to the WPIAL playoffs, the next step in pursuit of a 1961 championship.

It is difficult to imagine that unbeaten Sharon, rated along with Farrell and Uniontown as favorites in the WPIAL and state title picture, can drop three to Farrell.

The biggest test will come next Tuesday night. Farrell meets Sharon on the latter's court. If the Steelers can win away, then they are back in the picture. It is assumed they could repeat on their own court and in a rubber match on a neutral floor for the section crown. If the Steelers lose, then they are reduced to a bare mathematical chance of winning the section.

All this speculation, of course, assumes that the two section favorites win all their other section contests.

In view of Farrell's losses to Aliquippa and Ambridge, that is not necessarily a safe assumption.

Fouls contributed largely to the two defeats.

Lost Five Players

Against Aliquippa last Friday, the Steelers lost five top men at the start of the final period. At the time they trailed by 10 points. Whether they could have made up that deficit in the last eight minutes, even at full strength, is a moot point. But the Steelers are a great chips-down club.

In the Ambridge defeat Tuesday (67-60), Farrell outscored the opponents from the field, 42-26. But Ambridge made an incredible 41 out of 45 foul tries, while Farrell got only 27 chances and sunk 18.

Farrell isn't the only defending state champion in danger of elimination at an early stage.

It already has been noted that 1960 Class C king West Reading has run into difficulties due to the Christmas Eve injury to Ron Krick, the state's all-time high scholastic scorer. Krick is still out and there is no sign yet when he will return the dislocated a shoulder, although he is reported working out to keep his legs in shape. Meantime the Cowboys are struggling along around the middle of their Berks County league, doing a creditable job of staying in contention until the 6-foot-8 star returns.

Wampum, the defending Class B state champion, is rolling along easily at the moment, well out in front in WPIAL-Section 20. There's little doubt the tough little Lawrence County school, coached by Butler Hennon, will make the WPIAL-B playoffs.

Unbeaten Marks
We have no complete list of unbeaten basketball teams, but these spotless records have been noted in a glancing among state newspapers: Sharon, as already mentioned, Shamokin, Uniontown, Springdale, Bethlehem, Media, Marion Center, Sheffield, Springfield Twp. (Montgomery County), Bradford St. Bernards, Hickory Twp., (Mercer County).

Renovo, which was 10-0, lost to Williamsport, 79-64 Tuesday night. Renovo, a leading contender for state Class B honors, had topped the Class A school in an earlier encounter, 70-53 at Renovo. The return game was at Williamsport.

Also noted: DuBois, Dist. 9 Class A favorite, whipped Altoona, a leading District 6-A contender, 70-67, at the victors' court; Fountain Hill, a District 11-B team, rolled up a 114-51 victory over Bangor; Sunbury gained undisputed possession of first place in the Susquehanna Valley League by whipping Selinsgrove, 58-49; West Scranton lost its first Lackawanna League game, 63-44 to Duryea; Erie Tech knocked off District 10-A rival, Meadville, 69-66.

Ice Races Schedule 2 Marathons

TWO four-hour endurance events are slated for the Naomi Lake Grand Circuit Ice Races in the coming two weeks.

Sunday, an estimated 40 cars will take part in the Grand Prix of Endurance, with the winner determined by the number of laps completed in the four-hour period.

The race will begin with a running LeMans start at noon. The cars will be divided into class for trophy distribution. The event is open to all foreign and domestic sports cars, economy cars and American compacts.

On Saturday Jan. 28, the first annual Naomi Lake Four Hour Deep Freeze will be held. The race, similar to the Grand Prix, will be open to only American compact cars and foreign economy sedans.

The following day the regular schedule of events will be held. There will be ten 25-mile heats and a 63-mile feature.

Power Leads Cuban Loop

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) —Vic Power is the leading batter as the Puerto Rico Winter Baseball League moves into its final weeks.

With only two weeks of play to go, the Cleveland first baseman, who manages the Caguas Criollos here, had hit safely 49 times in 148 times at bat for a .331 average.

Tigers Pick Kansas' Coan

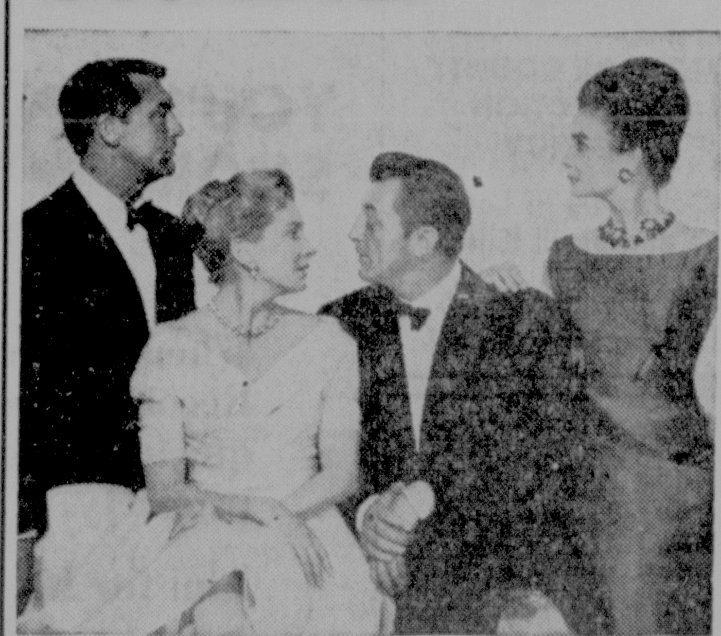

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP) — The Missouri football team hasn't forgotten Bert Coan, who led Kansas to a 23-7 victory over the Tigers, their only defeat in 1960.

Kansas later had to forfeit the game because of Coan's ineligibility, but Tiger footballers Wednesday still named him to their all opponent team, 21 votes out of 23.

Hockey Fighters

Draw Big Fine

TORONTO (AP)—The 23 players who took part in a first-period battle in the National Hockey League game between New York Rangers and Toronto Maple Leafs Wednesday night will have to pay $375 in fines.

Carl Voss, NHL referee-in-chief, said Thursday 12 New York and 11 Toronto players will be fined $25 each.

The game ended in a 4 tie.
